El Salvador Sister Parish News

The Santa Cruz al Salvador Board wishes to extend a great big thank you to all of you for your continued support and your willingness to help build relationships with your prayer child. The Pupusa meal was a great success, not only in funds raised but in the fellowship. There was a lot of energy in that room!

By the time you read this, the first delegation will have returned from El Salvador with lots of wonderful stories to share, which we will do some time in 2012. They will be having a medical and dental clinic, as well as attending graduation. They also hope to meet with some of the University scholarship recipients.

The second delegation leaves Jan. 5. Chris and Kent Madsen are the only people from St. Stephen's on this delegation. Other delegation members are from Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Salinas and we are very excited to welcome 2 people from Christ Lutheran in Aptos. Their focus will be 2 craft projects with a Christian theme, along with some singing.

To all Sponsors – the delegation leaving Jan. 5 will be present at the scholarship ceremony. This is when we help distribute the school supplies, and will give the children the letter & picture that you promised to send when you signed your commitment card. (Remember that promise?) If you would like to send a small gift to your prayer child, Chris & Kent Madsen have room and will be happy to take your gift, confined in a 1 gal storage bag. (no larger than that – please). Suggested items: t-shirt, sleeveless tops for girls, pens, pencils, hair and nail stuff for girls, candy treats (that don't melt), yo-yo's & other small toys, etc. We need them by Jan. 1.

Commitment Card - If you haven't already turned in your Prayer Child Commitment Card, please do so as soon as possible. For those of you who do not have a prayer child and are interested please contact Chris Madsen or Ruth Cruddas. We should be getting more names in January.

Holiday See's Candy Sale – Candy will be available on Sunday, December 11th.

Thank you again for your continued support of our work in El Salvador.
 Feliz Navidad, from Your El Salvador representatives.

News from Lutheran Campus Ministry of Monterey Bay

The fall quarter is well under its way at University of California, Santa Cruz. Although it has only been a month, some of the students are already up to their ears in mid-terms, group projects and other activities that keep them busy. It has been a busy and an exciting month for Lutheran Campus Ministry on this campus, as well.

We started off by tabling at OPERS, a student club fair, on September 22. This is an opportunity to make connections with new, as well as returning students. We are happy to see that the number of sing-ups at our table slowly, but certainly keeps increasing every year.

We are continuing providing rides for students to worship at a local church occasionally following it up by lunch and fellowship time. Our young adult Bible Conversations continue meeting bi-weekly, and we are looking for new and creative ways to engage young people with the Bible (maybe an on-line Bible Study?). We are also involved in service to our community by participating in Habitat for Humanity builds, organizing Trick or Treat for canned food to be donated to Santa Cruz AIDS project, and volunteering at an after-school program at the local Homeless Shelter twice a week.

Beginning of the year in many ways is determining of what the rest of the year will look like. At this busy time, I do thank you for your support through your prayers, financial contributions, and volunteering. With your help, we are continuing to support young adults on UCSC and CSUMB campuses not only in their spiritual walk, but in their need for community, their desire to serve, and more.

From Pastor Jim

How many of us would describe our church as a “powerful church”? And even if we did, wouldn’t most people think we meant that it was super inspiring or spiritually uplifting in some kind of an ethereal way?

I just returned from a conference in San Jose with 75 other church leaders from around the country, which was hosted by the Industrial Areas Foundation, which is the non-profit organization we partner with in COPA. We spent a lot of time examining what the nature of power is and how it relates to our community work.

Much of the justice-type work we are trying to do in our community requires us to confront and work with the “powers-that-be” - whether that be elected officials, influential businesses, or other ways that large decisions get made. And often-times we associate the word “power” negatively when linked with such things. We see power corrupted so often that we tend to shy away from connecting it with something like our friendly, wonderful church.

I would like to challenge our standard way of thinking about power. I think we should have a goal of being described as a “powerful church”. Why should the bad guys have all the attention when it comes to power, when WE have a better understanding of what power ought to be?

We know that power can be used for the good of people, and that it should be used especially to help whom Jesus called “the least of these” in Matthew 25. Our work with COPA, Mid-Peninsula Housing and our efforts to begin our own preschool are all such attempts at claiming our own power in our community for “the least of these”. As we work with our partner institutions in COPA, as we did last Wed. night in Salinas we are becoming a more powerful church. And instead of just muddling along and reacting to the problems that corrupt power creates, we are becoming leaders in our community as we shape it to be a more caring place to live. Kind of like the Kingdom of God we hear so much about in the Bible. It’s good to be a powerful church.

Council Highlights

1. The Women's Circle welcomed two staff members from the Churchwide WELCA office in Chicago. They were attending a planning workshop for the 2014 National WELCA Conference and called to attend the meeting. They offered an update as to the many ministry opportunities and resources the ELCA offers for women's groups. We think it may have been the first time our church has been visited by leaders from the Churchwide office.
2. The Long Range Task Force met on consecutive nights with two reps. from organizations that assist with Capital Campaigns and helping congregations develop strategic plans for their future. The two organizations that are being considered are The James Company and Kairos. They both come highly recommended by local Lutheran congregations and both interviews went very well. One will be decided upon to help us identify our programming and financial goals to help us meet our 5 year plan. Specifically, we will look to raise funds for a new bathroom near the entrance of the church (also for preschool), expansion of the fellowship hall, a new kitchen, and sanctuary renovations.
3. The Field Task Force met with Betsy Wilson from Mid-Pen. Housing for an update. We did not receive HUD 202 funding and the program is being cut in the future. This hurts our ability to provide senior housing. Other options will be pursued. The good news is that they will likely be able to build a new preschool facility for us!

A well-known evangelist said that the world has yet to see what could be accomplished for the sake of the gospel if we would quit being concerned about who gets the credit for what gets done in the kingdom of God. That includes our giving. In fact, one of the greatest tests for us as God's children is whether we are able to give cheerfully of ourselves and our resources without getting the credit.

Unless we give by cash and choose to forgo a tax deduction for our giving (hmm . . . now there's a novel idea!), probably the person who handles the church's financial affairs will be aware of our giving. Otherwise, though, it's a good idea to keep our giving a matter that's between ourselves and the Lord. Actually, it's more than a good idea. It's something Christ said we should do. . . .

TAKING OUR OFFERING SERIOUSLY

Applying Bible Principles

Male peacocks are interesting creatures. They love to be noticed, so they spread their bright plumage for any and all to see (especially female peacocks!).

Many people are like that, especially when it comes to their financial support of the Lord's work. They want people to notice their act of giving, when they give, how much they give, and the causes to which they give. Some even announce publicly how much they give, supposedly to challenge others to follow their pattern of generosity.

But is that God's way? A simple examination of the sixth chapter of Matthew's gospel reveals the answer. The Lord Jesus said that our giving is to be done secretly. If we take His instruction at face value, then it is apparent that we are not to let others know the extent of our giving. In fact, Jesus went so far as to say (figuratively, of course) that we shouldn't even let one hand know what the other is doing when it comes to our giving.

Sometimes, our giving will be seen by men. Sometimes, that's unavoidable. But Christ's point concerns our motive. We should give to please our Lord, not in order to be seen by other people so that we receive their commendation or accolades. In other words, we are to avoid what one writer described as "advertised piety."

A well-known evangelist said that the world has yet to see what could be accomplished for the sake of the gospel if we would quit being concerned about who gets the credit for what gets done in the kingdom of God. In Memoriam

Cheryl Bayne - A long-time member who struggled mightily with Multiple Sclerosis, especially the last 12 years. She shared her gift of calligraphy with the church until she was unable to.

Frank Shogren - Cathy Yost's son who was a very active leader at St. Stephen's for many years. Frank built the Fireside Rm, Offices, and Storage Sheds. He also took great pride in organizing and elaborately adorning the sanctuary for Christmas.

In addition to our Christmas pageant and holiday celebration, this month we will also be working on our Bags for Inmates project. The children will decorate lunch bags, make holiday cards, and gather items such as candy bars, chips, etc. for inmates at the Santa Cruz County Jail. This is such a wonderful opportunity for our children to share God's love with others.

Thanks so much to all who helped us gather 79 bars of soap for the Rebele Family Shelter. This was even more than we collected last year!

Saturday Dec. 10
9:00 am @ church

The holidays will be with us before we know it. I have booked the "St. Stephen's Christmas Choir" to sing carols at two retirement communities. We will be singing for the residents of Driftwood Health Care Center at 9:45 am for a little more than one half hour. Then we scurry over to Pacific Coast Manor to sing for the folks there from 10:45 am to 11:30.

Please arrive at Church no later than 9:00 am. We will provide music books for you. I'll hold a quick rehearsal of the carols that we plan to sing and then we'll be off. Dress festively and feel free to bring sleigh bells, or car keys to jingle when we sing.

I hope many of you can join us. It's always a gratifying experience to witness the power of music, particularly during the Holidays. Many of the residents love it when we come, especially when we ask them to sing along.

After singing, we will return to St. Stephen's and if we're lucky, Paul Powers might provide us with some delicious hot chocolate and some other tasty treats.

In peace, Suzanne Duval

Blue Christmas Worship Service

Sunday, December 18th at 7 p.m.

St. Stephen's will be offering a Blue Christmas Service -- a time when the "blue" feelings many people experience during the holidays can be acknowledged.

This is not a joyous season for everyone. Greetings of Merry Christmas or Happy Holidays, non-stop caroling, parties, and pageants, and other traditional ways of celebrating the holidays often contrast sharply with the feelings of people for whom it's not "the most wonderful time of the year." For families suffering from the recent or impending death of loved ones or in crisis due to illness or any other kind of loss, or for those who suffer from Christmas depression or other mental illness, it can be a very isolated and lonely time.

In this Blue Christmas Service, all those who are not having a very Merry Christmas for whatever reason, and the friends who support them, are invited to come and be with one another in a liturgy that speaks of the compassionate love of God for His hurting people. Together we will offer up our pain, sorrow, anxiety, and loneliness to the One whose birth we commemorate -- our Lord Jesus Christ.

It is our prayer that those who attend will be blessed with peace, hope, and especially the comfort of knowing they are not alone.
